

Theater and Performance Studies

Bachelor of Arts (BA)

Within the Theater and Performance Studies curriculum, we understand performance to be a mode of critical inquiry and research, a means of creative expression, and a vehicle for public engagement. The theater events that take place within the department are the means by which students engage with theater performance on the physical, intellectual, and aesthetic levels. It is our hope that you will not only grow as performers but also as artists, thinkers, makers, viewers, researchers, and participants in the whole of the artistic event.

The practical focus of the major is to create theater of all kinds using all its art forms. Whether new to theater or seasoned with years of training and skill, all students receive an education that engages them fully. Your focus may be on acting, dance, technical theater/design, performance studies, or some combination of these. Equally important to us is the study of theater and dance performance theory, history, culture, and literature, thereby balancing the practical with the theoretical. Students engage in other upper division electives in stage management, playwriting, directing, choreography, sound design, scenic design, costume design, or lighting design, as well as a myriad of performance opportunities.

The theater training and academic courses offered by our department are geared toward the student who is interested in learning about theater and performance from multiple perspectives. As either a major or minor in Theater and Performance Studies, you will study with nationally and internationally known faculty, respected for their scholarly research and for their creative work. Our graduates have gone on to professional careers in all theatrical fields and graduate schools all over the world. Our alumni include professional actors on stage and screen, arts journalists, stunt actors, directors, producers, playwrights, and more.

Further departmental opportunities include student-directed theater performances and projects, honors projects, internships in local Bay Area theaters, teaching courses in the department, and invitations to diverse and exciting lectures and performances. Students also have access to world-renowned visiting guest artists through our close relationship with Cal Performances and our extensive network in the field.

Declaring the Major

Most majors declare after taking 2 of their 4 lower division requirements. For more information on this, see the Major Requirements tab on this page.

Honors Program

Majors in the Department of Theater and Performance Studies with an overall GPA of 3.3 in the University may apply to complete an honors project. There are two types of honors projects:

1. Research & Thesis
2. Research & Performance

Students should consult with the Undergraduate Academic Advisor and can find more detailed information, including the application, at <https://tdps.berkeley.edu/undergrad/honors-projects>

Minor Program

The Department of Theater, Dance, and Performance Studies offers a minor in Theater and Performance Studies. For further information regarding the minor requirements, please see the Minor Requirements tab on this page.

Transfer students can determine coursework transfers into the minor by bringing unofficial transcripts and course descriptions to the Undergraduate Academic Advisor. A course equivalent to THEATER 10 can transfer from other institutions into the minor. It is rare that another course from a junior college will transfer into the minor because equivalent coursework is seldom found. Since the minor will be from the Department of Theater, Dance, and Performance Studies, it is likely students will do most of their minor coursework in the Department.

Declaring the Minor

Most minors declare after taking 1 course in the department. For more information on this, see the Minor Requirements tab on this page.

Other Programs Offered by TDPS

Dance and Performance Studies (<https://guide.berkeley.edu/undergraduate/degree-programs/dance-performance-studies/>) (Major and Minor)

In addition to the University, campus, and college requirements, listed on the College Requirements tab, students must fulfill the below requirements specific to their major program.

General Guidelines

1. All courses taken to fulfill the major requirements below must be taken for letter-graded credit, other than courses listed which are offered on a Pass/No Pass basis only.
2. No more than 1 upper division course may be used to simultaneously fulfill requirements for a student's major and minor programs, with the exception of minors offered outside of the College of Letters & Science.
3. A minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 must be maintained in both upper and lower division courses used to fulfill the major requirements.

For information regarding residence requirements and unit requirements, please see the College Requirements tab.

Declaring the Major

Students may declare the major after passing two of the four lower division required courses. Choose 1 course from the practice courses (THEATER 10 or THEATER 14 or THEATER 60) and 1 course from the performance studies courses (THEATER 25AC, THEATER 26, or THEATER 52AC) so you will have experienced both parts of your Theater and Performance Studies Major before declaring. Students will then be required to complete the 2 remaining lower division courses after declaring.

Lower Division Required Courses

Take the 4 lower division required courses:

THEATER 10	Fundamentals of Acting I (This course is required for students intending to take the acting training sequence. Students who have college credit for an equivalent acting course and who audition into a more advanced level can be considered exempt from Theater 10, with approval.) or THEATER 1: Performance Workshop	3
THEATER 26	Introduction to Performance Studies	4
THEATER 25AC	The Drama of American Cultures: An Introduction to Our Theater or THEATER 5: Dance in American Cultures	4
THEATER 60	Introduction to Technical Theater and Production	3

Upper Division Required Courses

Majors must take at least 24 upper-division units in TDPS. Usually three elective courses in addition to the required courses are enough to meet this requirement.

Required Technical Theater

Take the following 2 courses:

THEATER 167	Technical Theater: Performance Practice	1
THEATER 168	Technical Theater: Shop Practice	1

Required Production and Design

Select 1 of the following production or design courses:

THEATER 172	Stage Management	3
THEATER 173	Scenography: Scenic Design for Performance	3
THEATER 174	Scenography: Costume Design for Performance	3
THEATER 175A	Scenography: Lighting Design for Performance (it is recommended to take 175A before proceeding to 175B unless you have consent of the instructor)	4
THEATER 175B	Scenography: Advanced Lighting Design for Performance	4
THEATER 177	Sound Design for Performance	4

Required Performance History

THEATER 151	Foundations in Performance History	4
-------------	------------------------------------	---

Required Performance Studies

Choose 2 Performance Studies courses from this list. You may repeat the same-numbered course with different content.

THEATER 114	Performance Research Workshop	4
THEATER 117AC	California Stories: Theatrical Representations of Race, Labor, and Tourism	4
THEATER 118AC	Performance, Television, and Social Media	4
THEATER 119	Performance Theory	4
THEATER 121	Performance and Culture	4
THEATER 125	Performance and History	4
THEATER 126	Performance Literatures	4

Electives

Majors are encouraged to pursue depth in their studies (acting, dance, performance studies, design or technical theater). Elective coursework includes Independent Studies, Honors Projects, Internships, leading a Workshop Project, teaching a DeCal course, and Education Abroad Programs. Please note that "taking" DeCal courses does not count toward your major. Usually completing three elective courses fulfills the requirement of 24 units of upper division TDPS courses.

Transferring Units

A maximum of eight units of equivalent upper division coursework transfer into the major from the Education Abroad Program (EAP), other UCB departments, or other four-year colleges as electives upon departmental approval. All L&S-approved units from other colleges transfer into the student's BA degree but rarely into the Theater and Performance Studies major. Transfer students should bring a copy of previous transcripts/course descriptions to the Undergraduate Academic Advisor for evaluation.

Students who have a strong interest in an area of study outside their major often decide to complete a minor program. These programs have set requirements.

General Guidelines

1. All minors must be declared before the first day of classes in your Expected Graduation Term (EGT). For summer graduates, minors must be declared prior to the first day of Summer Session A.
2. All upper-division courses must be taken for a letter grade.
3. A minimum of three of the upper-division courses taken to fulfill the minor requirements must be completed at UC Berkeley.
4. A minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 is required in the upper-division courses to fulfill the minor requirements.
5. Courses used to fulfill the minor requirements may be applied toward the Seven-Course Breadth requirement, for Letters & Science students.
6. No more than one upper division course may be used to simultaneously fulfill requirements for a student's major and minor programs.
7. All minor requirements must be completed prior to the last day of finals during the semester in which the student plans to graduate. If students cannot finish all courses required for the minor by that time, they should see a College of Letters & Science adviser.
8. All minor requirements must be completed within the unit ceiling. (For further information regarding the unit ceiling, please see the College Requirements tab.)

Requirements

Required Lower Division

Select 1 of the following lower division courses:

THEATER 10	Fundamentals of Acting I (This course is required for students intending to take the acting training sequence. Students who have college credit for an equivalent acting course and who audition into a more advanced level can be considered exempt from Theater 10, with approval.)	3
THEATER 14	Performance Workshop	3
THEATER 25AC	The Drama of American Cultures: An Introduction to Our Theater	4
THEATER 26	Introduction to Performance Studies	4
THEATER 52AC	Dance in American Cultures	4
THEATER 60	Introduction to Technical Theater and Production	3
Required Upper Division Performance Studies Course
Select 1 upper division Performance Studies course:
THEATER 114	Performance Research Workshop	4
THEATER 117AC	California Stories: Theatrical Representations of Race, Labor, and Tourism	4
THEATER 118AC	Performance, Television, and Social Media	4
THEATER 119	Performance Theory	4
THEATER 121	Performance and Culture	4
THEATER 125	Performance and History	4
THEATER 126	Performance Literatures	4
THEATER 151	Foundations in Performance History	4
Elective Upper Division Courses
Choose a minimum of 4 electives to build a focus in your studies.

Notes

1. A course with the identical course number may only be counted twice in the minor.
2. Transfer Units: It is rare that Community College coursework will transfer into the Theater and Performance Studies Minor because they are lower division. If you have had college-level acting training, generally a Fundamentals of Act I (Theater 10) will transfer in from your Community College. Since your minor will be from this Department, it is likely that you will do most of your minor coursework here. If you have a question about coursework transferring into the minor, bring unofficial transcripts and course descriptions to the Undergraduate Academic Advisor.

Undergraduate students must fulfill the following requirements in addition to those required by their major program.

For a detailed lists of L&S requirements, please see Overview tab to the right in this guide or visit the L&S Degree Requirements (<https://lsadvising.berkeley.edu/degree-requirements/>) webpage. For College advising appointments, please visit the L&S Advising (<https://lsadvising.berkeley.edu/home/>) Pages.

University of California Requirements

Entry Level Writing

All students who will enter the University of California as freshmen must demonstrate their command of the English language by fulfilling the Entry Level Writing requirement. Fulfillment of this requirement is also a prerequisite to enrollment in all reading and composition courses at UC Berkeley and must be taken for a letter grade.

American History and American Institutions

The American History and American Institutions requirements are based on the principle that all U.S. residents who have graduated from an American university should have an understanding of the history and governmental institutions of the United States.

Berkeley Campus Requirement

American Cultures

All undergraduate students at Cal need to take and pass this campus requirement course in order to graduate. The requirement offers an exciting intellectual environment centered on the study of race, ethnicity and culture of the United States. AC courses are plentiful and offer students opportunities to be part of research-led, highly accomplished teaching environments, grappling with the complexity of American Culture.

College of Letters & Science Essential Skills Requirements

Quantitative Reasoning

The Quantitative Reasoning requirement is designed to ensure that students graduate with basic understanding and competency in math, statistics, or computer/data science. The requirement may be satisfied by exam or by taking an approved course taken for a letter grade.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language requirement may be satisfied by demonstrating proficiency in reading comprehension, writing, and conversation in a foreign language equivalent to the second semester college level, either by passing an exam or by completing approved course work taken for a letter grade.

Reading and Composition

In order to provide a solid foundation in reading, writing, and critical thinking the College of Letters and Science requires two semesters of lower division work in composition in sequence. Students must complete parts A & B reading and composition courses in sequential order by the end of their fourth semester for a letter grade.

College of Letters & Science 7 Course Breadth Requirements

Breadth Requirements

The undergraduate breadth requirements provide Berkeley students with a rich and varied educational experience outside of their major program. As the foundation of a liberal arts education, breadth courses give students a view into the intellectual life of the University while introducing them to a multitude of perspectives and approaches to research and scholarship. Engaging students in new disciplines and with peers from other majors, the breadth experience strengthens interdisciplinary connections and context that prepares Berkeley graduates to understand and solve the complex issues of their day.

Unit Requirements

- 120 total units
- Of the 120 units, 36 must be upper division units

- Of the 36 upper division units, 6 must be taken in courses offered outside your major department

Residence Requirements

For units to be considered in "residence," you must be registered in courses on the Berkeley campus as a student in the College of Letters & Science. Most students automatically fulfill the residence requirement by attending classes at Cal for four years, or two years for transfer students. In general, there is no need to be concerned about this requirement, unless you graduate early, go abroad for a semester or year, or want to take courses at another institution or through UC Extension during your senior year. In these cases, you should make an appointment to meet an L&S College adviser to determine how you can meet the Senior Residence Requirement.

Note: Courses taken through UC Extension do not count toward residence.

Senior Residence Requirement

After you become a senior (with 90 semester units earned toward your B.A. degree), you must complete at least 24 of the remaining 30 units in residence in at least two semesters. To count as residence, a semester must consist of at least 6 passed units. Intercampus Visitor, EAP, and UC Berkeley-Washington Program (UCDC) units are excluded.

You may use a Berkeley Summer Session to satisfy one semester of the Senior Residence requirement, provided that you successfully complete 6 units of course work in the Summer Session and that you have been enrolled previously in the college.

Modified Senior Residence Requirement

Participants in the UC Education Abroad Program (EAP), Berkeley Summer Abroad, or the UC Berkeley Washington Program (UCDC) may meet a Modified Senior Residence requirement by completing 24 (excluding EAP) of their final 60 semester units in residence. At least 12 of these 24 units must be completed after you have completed 90 units.

Upper Division Residence Requirement

You must complete in residence a minimum of 18 units of upper division courses (excluding UCEAP units), 12 of which must satisfy the requirements for your major.

Mission

The Department of Theater, Dance, and Performance Studies (TDPS) teaches performance as a mode of critical inquiry, innovation, creativity, knowledge production, and public engagement.

Undergraduate majors and minors are well prepared for the future, both as artists and engaged citizens of the world. At a time when scholars and practitioners across a variety of fields call for more cross-disciplinary intellectual collaboration and project-based learning in higher education, the department takes pride in its daily commitment to collaboration and to the kind of rigorously critical, team-based projects the department develops with its students, staff, and faculty both in the classroom and in its production season.

Vision

Within our active experiential learning spaces, our students develop strong analytical and technical capacities. Our graduates are uniquely equipped to bring a just, creative, interconnected and relational approach to the pressing challenges of our time.

Learning Goals for the Major

1. Ability to synthesize a well-organized argument from textual or other evidence and to express it in formal written form
2. Proficiency in research methods (i.e., utilization of public and private archives, libraries, electronic databases, oral histories or textual and performance analysis)
3. Collaborative skills
4. Foundational stagecraft and production skills and knowledge (design, craft and technology, stage management, new media)
5. Literacy in foundational dramatic texts and fundamental concepts of performance theory
6. Basic history of Euro-American theater practice including issues of race, ethnicity, and multiculturalism in the performing arts
7. Basic acting technique

Skills

Through upper-division coursework, electives, and capstone experiences students should also possess advanced training in at least one of the following:

1. Directing
2. Playwriting
3. Acting
4. Design
5. History/Theory/Literature
6. Stage Management
7. New Media

Major maps are experience maps that help undergraduates plan their Berkeley journey based on intended major or field of interest. Featuring student opportunities and resources from your college and department as well as across campus, each map includes curated suggestions for planning your studies, engaging outside the classroom, and pursuing your career goals in a timeline format.

THEATER 100 From Imagination to Innovation: Activating creativity for transformational change 3 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2025, Spring 2024, Spring 2022

This is a project-based class in collaborative innovation where students experience group creativity and team-based design by using techniques from across the disciplines of business, theatre, design, and art practice. They will leverage problem framing and solving techniques derived from critical thinking, systems thinking, and creative problem solving (popularly known today as design thinking). The course is grounded in a brief weekly lecture that sets out the theoretical, historical, and cultural contexts for particular innovation practices, but the majority of the class involves hands-on studio-based learning guided by an interdisciplinary team of teachers leading small group collaborative projects.

Rules & Requirements

Credit Restrictions: Students will receive no credit for THEATER 100 after completing ART 100, or UGBA 190C. A deficient grade in THEATER 100 may be removed by taking ART 100, or UGBA 190C.

THEATER 104 Public Speaking and Communication 3 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2024, Spring 2024

Students will learn to present themselves and material clearly, confidently, and persuasively, using age old arts of oral communication. They will learn techniques for overcoming stage fright, developing clear enunciation, finding and using their natural, unaffected vocal register, varying tone and intonation to hold audience interest, controlling pacing, moving with assurance and purpose, using appropriate gestures, and eye contact as well as exploring methods to change behaviors that bar effective communication and structure speeches to maximize persuasiveness.

Objectives & Outcomes

Course Objectives: Students will authentically and creatively express their personal identities through different methods of oral communication. Students will explore different genres of oral expression in order to strengthen their ability to use their voices to advocate, lead, and engage with the public.

Students will improve their self-confidence, comfort with vulnerability, and sense of connection to others through public speaking. This course is designed to help students analyze and reflect on how they express themselves, connect with others, and use their voices in service of improving the world around them. By exploring public speaking techniques in the context of a range of persuasive and creative styles, students will find an entry point to effectively communicate what they care about. Throughout the course, students will have multiple opportunities to learn different techniques, apply them in practice sessions, receive quality coaching, and perform in a safe, supportive environment. Work is largely designed to be completed during class time, with multiple practice opportunities to increase confidence and comfort before class performances.

Student Learning Outcomes: Clearly and effectively structure and present content in a clear and compelling way

- Utilize voice, stress coping strategies, and movement to effectively engage an audience
 - Practice strategies for listening and connecting to the presentations and performances of others
 - Use rhetoric to persuade and advocate for a position
- Explore how public speaking can be used to express identities through performances
- Craft engaging stories that communicate values, interests, vulnerabilities, and personal growth
 - Communicate their best selves and connect with others in high-stress situations, everyday conversations, and podcasts
- Practice giving quality feedback and enacting feedback from others to improve oral expression.
- Reflect on personal growth and overcome fears and anxieties around public speaking.

THEATER 105 Movement for Actors 3 Units

Terms offered: Summer 2025 Second 6 Week Session, Spring 2024, Spring 2023

Movement for Actors explores the kinesthetic relationship of the actor to the physical reality of the stage; focus is given to increasing the individual performer's awareness, range, physical freedom, and artistic expressiveness. The individual actor will work toward developing a grounded relationship to the surrounding environment while having an ability to work from an active center. Throughout the semester, students will explore the principles of ensemble building and rigorous actor training through the study of significant movement-theater artists.

Prerequisite: Theater 10 or 14.

Interviews will be conducted on the first day of class for admittance; there will be a movement component to this interview process.

Objectives & Outcomes

Course Objectives: Develop body awareness and efficient movement practices.

Study significant movement-based theater artists whose research is grounded in physical theater.

Train each student in a set of tools they can apply to all of their performance-based work.

Work on ensemble movement studies.

Student Learning Outcomes: Students learn how to use their bodies as generative sites for creativity and imagination.

Students learn how to physicalize the characters they play on the stage. Students will become more confident in their posture and physical presentation.

Students will learn to work in solo, duet and ensemble movement compositions.

THEATER 117AC California Stories: Theatrical Representations of Race, Labor, and Tourism 4 Units

Terms offered: Summer 2022 8 Week Session, Summer 2019 8 Week Session, Summer 2018 8 Week Session

How might we characterize California? Who lives here & what are the stories we tell about them? This course takes California as the site through which to explore how cultural systems of performance help shape social systems of race, considering the role performance forms—theater, film, tourism, pageants, political protests—have played in shaping California's unique cultural and racial topography. From the theatricalization of Chinatown in Rodgers' and Hammerstein's Flower Drum Song to that of urban riots in Twilight, from the staging of Latinx farmworker's rights to those of post-war African American workers of the Great Migration, performance strategies have been used by a variety of agents towards a range of social & political goals.

Objectives & Outcomes

Course Objectives: Identify key themes of those performances
Observe and analyze contemporary racial dynamics in California
Analyze plays, films, and para-theatrical performances for how they contribute to those racial structures

Articulate California's historical and contemporary racial dynamics
Understand the interplay between different forms of performance – theater, tourism, political protest – in the process of racial formation

Hours & Format

Summer: 8 weeks - 4 hours of lecture and 2 hours of discussion per week

This course examines the intersections of performance and media--specifically the media forms of television and social media in the U.S.--with a focus on how various types of difference (race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and socioeconomic class) are enacted, articulated, represented, and played on TV and social media platforms.

Objectives & Outcomes

Student Learning Outcomes:

Be able to articulate thoughtful, informed insights and opinions about historical and contemporary television and social media both verbally and in writing

#

Be able to use course readings to critically think about media and new media

#

Become a well-educated observer and analyst of current trends and shifts in media and new media

#

Become knowledgeable about the core scholarly literature and key concepts and theories of performance studies, media studies, new media studies, critical race studies, and gender studies, particularly theories pertinent to the cultural forms of television and social media

#

Build the necessary foundational skills for careers in media research, scholarship, and teaching, and/or professions in the media and new media industries.

#

Develop critical media literacies, i.e., the analytical tools and vocabularies for identifying and articulating how difference and diversity (especially race and ethnicity, gender and sexuality, and socioeconomic class) are depicted and enacted in television and social media

#

Gain a deep understanding of how mass media and social media have influenced widespread perceptions, stereotypes, and definitions of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and socioeconomic class, and how minority groups have historically protested or otherwise sought to alter media (mis-)representations of them

#

Learn to apply core concepts of Marxist cultural studies to analyze media phenomena

THEATER 148 Movement Improvisation 3 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2025, Spring 2024, Spring 2023

This course is an introduction to the foundational principles of movement improvisation. Through guided movement exercises and experiences, readings, discussions, observations, and journaling students will broaden their ability to move expressively and in the moment. They will learn skills that explore concepts of time, space, energy, shape and dynamics. The course will develop students' choreographic tools and performance abilities, and it will challenge students to take creative risks. The readings will allow for critical and historical understandings of dance improvisation and how improvisation has impacted choreographic trends.

Hours & Format

Fall and/or spring: 15 weeks - 4 hours of studio per week

Additional Details

Subject/Course Level: Theater, Dance, and Performance St/ Undergraduate

Grading/Final exam status: Letter grade. Final exam not required.

THEATER 151 Foundations in Performance History 4 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2025, Spring 2024

This course examines a breadth of performance traditions from across the globe and from across the ages as they depart from, challenge, and influence each other as well as helping to shape the performances of today. How did religious beliefs, economic structures, social and kinship relations, or political histories produce the different shapes that performances have taken over the years and around the world? How did different communities and individuals understand performance as a way to remember, reflect, or change their societies? Students will learn how various performance forms responded to and were in dialogue with particular historical events. They will also develop historical and critical approaches to performance traditions.

Rules & Requirements

Repeat rules: Course may be repeated for credit when topic changes.

Hours & Format

Fall and/or spring: 15 weeks - 3 hours of lecture per week

Additional Details

Subject/Course Level: Theater, Dance, and Performance St/ Undergraduate

THEATER 151A Histories of Performance: Performance and Community 4 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2021, Fall 2020, Fall 2019

This history survey course examines performance's role in mass movements: of politics, of religion, of revolution, and of the creation of communities around nations, traditions, or cultures. The course will explore a cluster of different theater/performance traditions, both Western and non-Western. Using a comparative methodology rather than cumulative one, students learn to appreciate the diversity of theater and performance strategies and traditions while at the same time understanding how similar questions and explorations have haunted performers across continents and across centuries.

Hours & Format

Fall and/or spring: 15 weeks - 3 hours of lecture per week

Additional Details

Subject/Course Level: Theater, Dance, and Performance St/ Undergraduate

Grading/Final exam status: Letter grade. Final exam required.

THEATER 151B Histories of Performance: Performance and Globalization 4 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2023, Spring 2022, Spring 2019

This history survey course examines different performance traditions from across the globe as they depart from, challenge, and influence each other. How did peoples on each continent theorize the role of performance in their society, and what did these theories look like when they were put into practice on the stage, in the temple, or in the town square? How did the forces of trade, migration, settler-colonialism, and tourism influence the sharing (and stealing) of these traditions across cultures and continents? And how do these different views of performance challenge our understandings of what truth is and how the theater can or should represent it? (Students do not need to have taken TDPS 151a to enroll in this class.)

Hours & Format

Fall and/or spring: 15 weeks - 3 hours of lecture per week

Additional Details

Subject/Course Level: Theater, Dance, and Performance St/ Undergraduate

Grading/Final exam status: Letter grade. Final exam required.

THEATER 160 Design for Performance 3 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2024, Spring 2022, Spring 2021

The course introduces students to the creative/collaborative process of design for theater, dance, & performance production, and is an overview of both the history of design for the stage and basic design theory. Specific theater design fields, including scenic, costume, & lighting design are explored to create a vocabulary for the discussion, appreciation, participation & evaluation of theatrical design. The course also covers the collaborative processes involved in designing for performance. It is a project-based class, and course work consists of engaging with readings, lecture material, research, critical analysis, and rendering with basic digital tools and physical prototyping.

Rules & Requirements

Credit Restrictions: Students will receive no credit for THEATER 160 after completing THEATER 160. A deficient grade in THEATER 160 may be removed by taking THEATER 160.
