Berkeley Social Welfare educates students for leadership in the field of social welfare and the profession of social work. Since 1944 we have prepared over 11,000 social work professionals and social work scholars for leadership in a range of research, teaching, advanced practice, and management roles. We offer two graduate degrees: the professional Master of Social Welfare (MSW); and the academic Doctor of Philosophy in Social Welfare (PhD).

Master of Social Welfare (MSW)

Berkeley Social Welfare offers the professional Master of Social Welfare (MSW) degree, which is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). Students are prepared to practice with specialized skills at specific intervention levels and are thoroughly grounded in social science knowledge, social welfare policies, and social service organizations.

- We train social workers for a range of leadership and advanced practice roles in the profession.
- We create a spirit of critical inquiry and emphasize the use of tested knowledge and theory in developing and applying intervention methods.
- We prepare students for professional responsibility in the field of social welfare and the institutional systems that comprise it.
- We educate students to advance social justice.

All MSW students complete a foundation curriculum in generalist social work practice; an advanced curriculum that prepares them for practice in a chosen area of specialization; and a field education curriculum including agency-based field placements and integrative field seminars.

Full-time MSW Program

The Berkeley MSW Program is a two-year, full-time degree program. All students follow a prescribed, full-time (minimum 12 units per semester) program of work, preparing them for both generalist and specialized practice.

FlexMSW Advanced Standing Program

The FlexMSW Advanced Standing program is available to qualified working professionals in the field of social work who have a professional baccalaureate degree in social work from a program accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). FlexMSW Advanced Standing students complete a 27-unit program of study over a one-year period.

FlexMSW Extended Program

The FlexMSW Extended Program is a three-year MSW degree track option for qualified working professionals in the field of social work and otherwise qualified students who are not able to participate in a traditional full-time MSW professional degree program. FlexMSW Extended Program students enroll on a part-time basis and complete the same 54-unit program of study as traditional full-time MSW students, only over a period of three part-time years (inclusive of two summer sessions), instead of two full-time years.

NOTE: Berkeley Social Welfare will not be accepting applications for Fall 2024 admission to either FlexMSW Program track.

Certificate Programs

Additional special program options include the School Social Work Credential Program; a Social Work with Latinos Certificate; and the Graduate Certificate in Aging.

Concurrent Master's Degrees

Berkeley Social Welfare offers a Concurrent MSW/MPH Degree and a Concurrent MSW/MPP Degree with the Goldman School of Public Policy. Applicants must be accepted to both programs to pursue a concurrent degree.

The PhD in Social Welfare

Berkeley Social Welfare's doctoral program develops scholars who challenge conventional wisdom and make significant contributions to the field of social welfare and the profession of social work through excellent research, teaching, policy development, and administration. Berkeley doctoral students become proficient in research methodology and experts in their area of interest, ultimately demonstrating scholarly competence by publishing a dissertation.

All applicants to graduate study at Berkeley (regardless of degree program) apply for graduate admission through UC Berkeley's online Graduate and Professional Application for Admission. The online application becomes available in early September each year. A separate application to the School of Social Welfare is not required. Berkeley Social Welfare does not participate in the Social Work Centralized Application Service (SocialWorkCAS). Applicants may apply to only one single degree program or one established concurrent degree program per admission term. Berkeley Social Welfare only admits for the fall semester each academic year; no spring or summer admissions are offered.

The Berkeley Social Welfare Admissions Office offers admissions advising, group presentations and recruitment events, and online resources to guide potential graduate applicants through the application process. For more information about our programs, application requirements, admission process, or informational sessions and recruitment events, please visit Berkeley Social Welfare Admissions.

Master’s Degree Program Admissions Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for admission to any Berkeley Social Welfare master's degree program, applicants must meet all of the following requirements:

1. Possession of a bachelor’s degree or recognized equivalent from an accredited institution.
2. A satisfactory scholastic average, generally a minimum grade-point average of B or better (3.0 on a 4-point scale).
3. Sufficient undergraduate preparation and training for graduate study in social welfare. Applicants for admission to the MSW program must... have strong academic preparation in the liberal arts and sciences, including coursework in the social and behavioral sciences.

4. A college-level, introductory course in statistics. This requirement must be satisfied prior to matriculation if you are offered admission.

5. The equivalent of one full year of paid or voluntary experience related to social welfare or human services. (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/admissions/msw-admissions/msw-admission-eligibility-requirements/experience-and-%C3%A9-guidelines/) For applicants to the “Strengthening Organizations and Communities” specialization, the recommended minimum experience requirement is two years. To satisfy the experience requirement for admission eligibility, all experience hours must be acquired by the application deadline.

6. For international applicants from a country or political entity where English is not the official language, a satisfactory score on the TOEFL exam or other acceptable equivalent evidence of English language proficiency (https://grad.berkeley.edu/admissions/requirements/#evidence-of-english-language-proficiency) to do graduate work is required.

7. Applicants to concurrent master’s degree programs (e.g., MSW/MPP) and the Combined MSW/PhD Program must meet eligibility requirements for and admissions standards of both programs, including any examination requirements (GRE, etc.) of other programs. The Graduate Record Exam (GRE) is not required for admission to the MSW-only and MSW/PhD programs.

For complete details please visit Berkeley Social Welfare’s MSW Admission Eligibility Requirements (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/admissions/msw-admissions/msw-admission-eligibility-requirements/).

NOTE: Berkeley Social Welfare will not be accepting applications for Fall 2024 admission to either FlexMSW Program track.

Doctoral (PhD) Program Admissions Eligibility Requirements

Berkeley Social Welfare prefers applicants who hold a master’s degree in social work or social welfare, or have comparable preparation in a closely related field; and who show evidence of intellectual and other qualifications essential to successful doctoral study. Applicants must possess the intellectual qualifications essential to successful performance in the program, and in reviewing applications we seek to determine whether the applicant’s particular objectives can be met in our doctoral program at Berkeley.

To be considered for admission to the Social Welfare PhD Program (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/phd-social-welfare/), all applicants must:

• Satisfy the minimum requirements for admission to graduate study at Berkeley (http://grad.berkeley.edu/admissions/requirements/).

• Have a master's degree in social work or social welfare, or comparable preparation in a closely related field.

• Demonstrate evidence of intellectual and other qualifications essential to successful performance in the doctoral program.

• For international applicants from a country or political entity where English is not the official language, a satisfactory score on the TOEFL exam or other acceptable equivalent evidence of English language proficiency (https://grad.berkeley.edu/admissions/requirements/#evidence-of-english-language-proficiency) to do graduate work is required.

To be granted the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Welfare, students must satisfy all of the following requirements:

1. Complete a course of study in the school and related departments of the University specified by the school, designed to achieve proficiency in the areas of social work theory, social welfare policy and/or administration, history and philosophies of social welfare, and social research methods.

2. Pass qualifying examinations indicating proficiency in the areas mentioned above.

3. Pass an oral examination before a committee appointed in accordance with rules of the Graduate Council.

4. Be admitted to candidacy for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy according to procedures established by the Academic Senate.

5. Complete a dissertation dealing with some problem of significance to the field of social welfare and of such character as to show power to prosecute independent investigation.

6. Spend a minimum of at least two years of graduate study in residence at the University of California, Berkeley.

There is no total unit requirement for the PhD degree in Social Welfare, but doctoral students must enroll full-time (12 units/semester, no more than 4 of which may be earned as credit for working as a Graduate Student Researcher or Graduate Student Instructor) until taking and passing the qualifying exam.

Course of Study

Doctoral coursework includes seminars in research methods, statistics, theory, and other related courses; along with individual tutorials with members of the faculty.

Coursework in Statistics and Methods

Social Welfare doctoral students are required to complete at least six courses in statistics and/or methods. At least four courses must be approved statistics courses. The remaining two courses may be either statistics or methods. These courses are intended to deepen a skill set needed for an ongoing program of research. Students work with their PhD faculty advisor to choose these courses from among those approved by the Doctoral Curriculum Committee. Courses must be graduate-level courses (200 and above) and may be offered by any department on campus.

Elective in Social Science Theory

Social Welfare doctoral students are required to complete at least one letter-graded course focused on basic-discipline social science theory, before or during the semester of the Qualifying Exam.

First Year Comprehensive Exam

At the end of their first year in the program, students are required to demonstrate mastery of a broad base of knowledge in social welfare.
by completing a competency exam based upon knowledge gained in SOC WEL 279 and SOC WEL 289A.

Qualifying Paper
A Qualifying Paper (QP), which serves as a preliminary examination, is due at the end of the second year of the PhD program. Students work with their primary faculty advisor to submit a 1-2 page statement of their proposed Qualifying Paper topic to the PhD Faculty Chair for approval by October of the second year. The QP is expected to synthesize and critically evaluate an important, broad body of literature about an intellectual question related to a social problem. After the QP is satisfactorily completed, students must (a) declare two fields of expertise on which he or she will be examined by a Qualifying Examination committee, and (b) complete a Dissertation Prospectus. The fields of expertise may relate to the QP, must represent two broad and important bodies of literature related to a social problem(s), and must be approved by the PhD Chair in consultation with the student’s PhD Faculty Advisor. The fields of expertise must be broad (e.g., poverty/inequality and mental health; child development and domestic violence; substance abuse and prevention science).

Dissertation Prospectus
A Dissertation Prospectus must be completed well in advance of taking the Qualifying Examination. The prospectus must summarize the relevant literature, describe the issue or problem to be addressed (with clear study aims), and focus on the plan of research—including the proposed methodology, data sources, and/or analyses to be used, and a tentative timeline for project completion.

Qualifying Examination
The qualifying examination is a three-hour oral exam assessing mastery of the student’s chosen fields of study and written materials submitted for the examination. It is conducted by a committee of five faculty members proposed by the student and approved by the Graduate Division. When passed, this examination marks the completion of required course work, mastery of the fields of study, and advancement to candidacy.

Dissertation
Once advanced to candidacy, doctoral students pursue a research agenda that will offer an original contribution to knowledge in the field. The dissertation is the final demonstration of scholarly, research, and professional abilities. Upon final signature of approval by the dissertation committee and submission to the Graduate Division, students are awarded the doctoral degree.

The Berkeley MSW requires two years of full-time study (at least 12 units/semester) that total a minimum of 54 units. To be eligible for degree conferral, all MSW students must complete:

- 9 units of Generalist Practice coursework required of all students.
- At least 2 units of coursework in Diversity-sensitive and Competent Practice.
- 6 to 8 units of Specialized Practice coursework in an area of specialization, chosen at the time of application for admission to the program.
- 4 units of social research methods, inclusive of the Berkeley master’s capstone requirement.
- 25 units of field education, which includes two years of field practicum internship and concurrent field integration seminars.
- 6 to 8 units of professionally relevant elective coursework or courses needed for additional special program options.

Generalist Practice
All MSW students must successfully complete a foundational generalist practice curriculum, consisting of four required courses taken in the first semester:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Units</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOC WEL 200</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOC WEL 241</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

All Generalist Practice requirements must be successfully completed in order to progress to the Specialized Practice curriculum. Students may not enroll into Social Research Methods courses (SOCWEL 282A&B) or begin their Advanced/Specialization Field Placement (SOCWEL 292A&B, 412A&B) until they have successfully completed all Generalist Practice courses.

Diversity-Competent Social Work Practice
All MSW students must complete an approved course in diversity-competent practice, valued at 2 units or higher. See Diversity Courses (p. 6) for more information on courses that satisfy this requirement.

Specialized Practice
All MSW students complete a series of required advanced practice and policy courses, selected according to the chosen specialized practice area(s) and any additional special program options.

Social Research Methods and Master’s Capstone Requirement

All MSW students must complete two courses in methods of social research:

- SOC WEL 282A Seminar in Social Welfare Research 2
- SOC WEL 282B Seminar in Social Welfare Research 4

The Berkeley master’s capstone requirement is satisfied by the successful completion of SOC WEL 282B.

Field Education

All MSW students must earn a total of 25 units in field education, inclusive of agency-based field placement practicum experience and required integrative field seminars. Full-time MSW students are generally in field placement sites two days a week in the first year, and three days a week in the second year.

Foundation Field (First Year)

- SOC WEL 290A FOUNDATION FIELD INTEGRATION SEMINAR 2
- SOC WEL 290B Foundation Field Integration Seminar II 1
- SOC WEL 410A Foundation Practicum I 4
- SOC WEL 410B Foundation Practicum II 4

Advanced Field (Second Year)

- SOC WEL 292A Advanced Field Integration Seminar 1
- SOC WEL 292B Advanced Field Integration Seminar II 1
- SOC WEL 412A Advance Practicum I 6
- SOC WEL 412B Advanced Practicum II 6

Electives

MSW students must complete a sufficient number of units in approved, professionally relevant elective course work required to reach the minimum total unit requirement of 54 units. Since the number of required courses varies according to the area of specialized practice, the total number of elective units required in each area will also vary. See Elective Courses (p. 6) for more information on courses that satisfy this requirement.

Concurrent Degree in Social Welfare and Public Policy

Berkeley Social Welfare and the Goldman School of Public Policy (https://gspp.berkeley.edu/academics/concurrent-degree-programs/public-policy-social-welfare/) offer a Concurrent Degree program option that blends the substantive focus and professional social work training of the Masters in Social Welfare (MSW) with the rigorous methodological tools and policy breadth of the Masters in Public Policy (MPP). Students seeking a career in social service research, policy, or administration must be knowledgeable about the complexities of service delivery, a perspective supplied by the MSW Field Education and service-oriented course work; skilled in the “big picture” policy analysis based in the rigorous methodological training in economics, statistics, and policy research of the MPP; and able to effectively advocate for their programs and their constituents in the legislature and executive branches.

To complete the MSW/MPP Concurrent Degree (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/msw-student-handbook/mswmpp-degree-requirements/) program and earn both the MSW and MPP, a student must be admitted to the program and complete 88 units of coursework in Social Welfare and Public Policy, which includes 20 units related to off-campus field education, over 3 years. One year each is dedicated to the foundation curriculum in social welfare and public health. The third year is a combination of advanced social welfare and public health curriculum that results in a joint Master’s capstone that addresses the knowledge of both fields.

Prospective applicants may reach out to either school for more information about this program.

Berkeley Graduate Certificate in Aging

To be eligible for the Berkeley Graduate Certificate in Aging (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/graduate-certificate-aging/), candidates:

1. Must be registered and enrolled in a graduate degree program at UC Berkeley.
2. Must be in good academic standing (e.g., GPA of 3.0 or better).
3. Must submit a brief statement describing their interest and experience in social work practice with and on behalf of aging and elderly clients.

The Graduate Certificate in Aging requires a total of 7 to 9 units, including:

- one required anchor course: SOC WEL 210C Aging Processes.
- one course in advanced social work practice:
  - SOC WEL 244 Direct Practice in Community Behavioral Health and Recovery Services across the Adult Life Span
  - SOC WEL 245 Direct Practice in Health Settings across the Adult Life Span
- or SOC WEL 246 Direct Practice in Aging Settings.

SOC WEL 230 Social Policy: Children and Families 2 or SOC WEL 2:Health Policy–A Social Welfare Perspective 2
• at least one additional, professionally relevant elective course chosen from an approved list
• at least 120 hours of direct practice field experience with or on behalf of elderly clients.

For more information about approved elective courses, the field experience requirement, and how to apply, please visit the UC Berkeley Social Welfare master’s degree program.

School Social Work Credentials

Berkeley Social Welfare offers a curriculum in school social work practice, leading to eligibility for a recommendation for the Pupil Personnel Services Credentials (PPSC), which are issued by the State of California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CTC) (https://www.ctc.ca.gov/).

In addition to successfully completing all requirements for the MSW degree, students seeking the PPSC in School Social Work (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degree-programs/master-social-welfare-msw/ppsc/) must take the following specific credential program courses as part of their program of study:

SOC WEL 212 Child Development from Infancy to Adolescence in Its Social Context 2
SOC WEL 232 Social Work and Education Policy 2
SOC WEL 250T Social Work Practice in School Settings 2

PPSC candidates must also complete at least 1000 hours of field practice with school-age children, as well as meet other credential prerequisite and administrative requirements mandated by the Commission on Teacher Credentialing. For information please visit Berkeley Social Welfare School Social Work Credentials (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degree-programs/master-social-welfare-msw/ppsc/).

Social Work with Latinos Certificate

To be eligible for the Social Work with Latinos Certificate (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/social-work-latinos-certificate/), candidates:

1. Must be registered and enrolled in a graduate degree program at UC Berkeley.
2. Must be in good academic standing (e.g., GPA of 3.0 or better).
3. Must demonstrate Spanish language proficiency at an intermediate level.
4. Must submit a brief statement describing their interest and experience in Latino social work, and their goals for gaining the certificate.

The Social Work with Latinos Certificate requires a total of at least six (6) units, including:

• one required anchor course: SOC WEL 250J Social Work with Latino Populations.
• at least two additional elective courses chosen from an approved list.
• a minimum of 120 hours of direct practice in an agency serving predominantly Spanish-speaking Latinx clients.

For more information about approved elective courses, the field experience requirement, and how to apply, please visit the Berkeley Social Welfare Social Work with Latinos Certificate (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/social-work-latinos-certificate/).

NOTE: Berkeley Social Welfare will not be accepting applications for Fall 2024 admission to either FlexMSW Program track.

FlexMSW Advanced Standing

The FlexMSW Advanced Standing Program (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/flexmsw/flexmsw-advanced-standing/) is a one-year MSW degree track option for eligible working professionals who already hold a baccalaureate professional degree in social work obtained from a program accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) (https://cswe.org/). Pursuing the MSW degree with Advanced Standing status allows eligible students with accredited professional baccalaureate degrees to bypass the foundational components of the MSW curriculum, given their prior exposure to social work foundational content in their undergraduate degree programs, and enter the specialized portion of the program directly.

Prospective students must apply and be admitted directly into the FlexMSW Advanced Standing degree track.

To be eligible for admission to the FlexMSW degree program, prospective applicants:

• must hold an accredited professional bachelor's degree in social work (BASW or BSW), which must have been conferred within the past five years.
• must meet all other admissions eligibility requirements (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/admissions/msw-admissions/msw-admission-eligibility-requirements/) for admission to a Berkeley Social Welfare master's degree program.

The FlexMSW Advanced Standing degree requires a minimum of 27 units for degree conferral, including 14 units earned in Field Education. The program is designed to be completed in one calendar year (August to August) over three consecutive semesters (fall, spring and summer). Upon successful completion of all requirements, students are awarded the Master of Social Welfare (MSW) degree, conferred in August.

All FlexMSW Advanced Standing students follow a prescribed plan of study, as shown below, in the MSW specialization area of Strengthening Children, Youth and Families (SCYF) (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/master-social-welfare-msw/SCYF):}

FlexMSW Extended

Admission eligibility requirements (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/admissions/msw-admissions/msw-admission-eligibility-requirements/) for the FlexMSW Extended degree program are the same as for the full-time Berkeley MSW program.

Prospective students must apply and be admitted directly into the FlexMSW Extended Program degree track. Once admitted to any MSW degree track at Berkeley, students are not permitted to switch from full-time to the FlexMSW Extended option, or from the FlexMSW Extended option to the full-time MSW Program.

The FlexMSW Extended Program requires the same program of study and minimum total of 54 units as the full-time Berkeley MSW Program plan, including 25 units earned in field education. The FlexMSW Extended degree track is designed to be completed in eight semesters.
over three calendar years (August to August), inclusive of two summer terms. Upon successful completion of all requirements, students are awarded the Master of Social Welfare (MSW) degree, typically conferred in August.

FlexMSW Extended Program students may complete their degree in any of the three MSW specialization areas. For more information on plans of study, class scheduling and field placement, please see the Berkeley Social Welfare FlexMSW Extended Program. (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/flexmsw/flexmsw-extended)

Child Welfare Scholars Program

The Child Welfare Scholars Program (https://socialwelfare.berkeley.edu/academics/masters-degrees-certificates/master-social-welfare/child-welfare-scholars-program/) is Berkeley’s implementation of the Title IV-E Stipend Program, administered by the California Social Work Education Center (CaS https://calswec.berkeley.edu/programs-and-services/title-iv-e-stipend-program) and World-renowned policy and coursework address the unique challenges that families in this system endure and present to their workers. World-renowned policy and practice instructors and researchers expose students to the most current research in public child welfare service agency.

Child Welfare Scholars complete a specialized curriculum that includes two years of field placement in either a county child welfare unit, or a closely related agency serving child welfare clients. Academic classes and internships emphasize working with children and families who have incidents of abuse and neglect. Special field seminar sections and coursework address the unique challenges that families in this system endure and present to their workers. World-renowned policy and practice instructors and researchers expose students to the most current research in public child welfare. Clinical instructors with significant employment experience in public child welfare provide practice courses and coordinate internships.

Elective Courses

Students must complete a sufficient number of units in professionally relevant elective course work required to reach the minimum total unit requirement. Since the number of required courses varies according to chosen area(s) of specialized practice and any additional special program options, the total number of elective units required in each area will also vary.

Social Welfare Elective Courses

Any Social Welfare graduate course (numbered 200 and higher) not used to satisfy another degree requirement may be used as an elective course for the MSW degree.

SOC WEL 200 Theories for Multilevel Practice

2 Units

This course examines the foundations of social work practice theories and strategies for connecting theory and practice. It provides an overview of the impact of the social environment, the impact of the “ecology” of human behavior and the way social institutions and practices provide structure over the life course. Practice implications are explored in terms of assessing client social and psychological needs. The course covers biophysical perspectives, crisis and intervention, cognitive-behavioral theories, systems/ecological frameworks, social psychological theories, social constructionism, humanism and existentialism, critical race and conflict theories, multilevel practice theories, and examination of individual and group differences.

SOC WEL 265L Social and Emotional Learning Foundations 3 Units
Terms offered: Prior to 2007
This 12 week course focuses on equipping students with knowledge about systemic social and emotional learning (SEL) and practical strategies to promote adult well-being and equitable, evidence-based SEL among school-aged children and youth. The course is designed for classroom teachers who work directly with Pre K-12th grade students. The course will survey a spectrum of assets-based, accessible methods to develop local strategies that promote positive relationships and improve conditions for learning to make schools centers of social and emotional well-being. Major topics of exploration include: the field’s history, purpose, research-base, and role in promoting educational equity; personal and community well-being among educators.

Objectives & Outcomes

Course Objectives: Synthesize knowledge gained in the course to create an improvement project within a local learning environment

Student Learning Outcomes: Apply basic neuroscience principles behind emotions, motivation, and learning, and the impact of stress and trauma on the brain, to classroom settings.
Demonstrate enhanced capacity to build authentic partnerships with families to support student SEL.
Demonstrate enhanced capacity to engage in personal development and reflection practices that strengthen adult SEL competencies and well-being.
Demonstrate enhanced capacity to foster developmentally appropriate student SEL competencies through direct instruction, academic integration, and classroom pedagogy that centers student voice and experience.

Rules & Requirements

Prerequisites: Successful completion of Social Welfare 243, Social Welfare 244, or Social Welfare 245; or consent of instructor.

SOC WEL 265M Motivational Interviewing 2 Units
Terms offered: Fall 2023, Fall 2022, Spring 2022
Motivational interviewing (MI) is a modern clinical paradigm that dialectically integrates humanistic, client-centered principles with goal-focused strategies. Students in this course will be introduced to all key aspects of MI including its major tenets, its theoretical base, the available empirical evidence on its efficacy, and its overall compatibility with social work. Moreover, students will learn all of the associated clinical skills for the four processes of motivational interviewing: 1) engaging; 2) focusing; 3) evoking; and 4) deciding and planning.

Terms offered: Spring 2024, Fall 2023, Spring 2023
Actively exposing oneself to various forms of scholarship, participating in research forums, identifying areas for professional development, and developing effective strategies for presenting scholarly work are crucial skills for social work academics. Thus, students are required to participate in research colloquia for the Social Welfare PhD degree. The colloquium is designed to expose students to a variety of scholarly approaches, models of scholarly professional development, and public presentation of scholarly work. Students will be exposed to research colloquia offered by other students, faculty, and invited scholars. Students will gain practice presenting their work, critiquing work of others, and receiving and responding to critique.

SOC WEL 410A Foundation Practicum I 4 Units
Terms offered: Fall 2021, Fall 2020, Fall 2019
The foundation field practicum advances the experiential learning capacities and professional competencies of first year MSW students. Students are placed in an approved field internship placement setting for two days a week with an agency-based field instructor. Available placements provide a range of generalist learning opportunities along all phases of the intervention cycle (engagement, assessment, intervention, and/or evaluation) and various levels of the social ecology (individuals, families, groups, and/or communities). These opportunities allow the student to practice, receive observationally-based feedback, refine professional competencies, and ultimately, have their competencies assessed.
