Buddhist Studies

Group in Buddhist Studies

The Group in Buddhist Studies is comprised primarily of faculty from the Departments of East Asian Languages & Cultures and South & Southeast Asian Studies. The group offers an interdisciplinary program of study. The program allows undergraduate students to complete a minor in Buddhist Studies. Students seeking a major with content related to Buddhism should check out the majors in either South & Southeast Asian Studies (https://guide.berkeley.edu/undergraduate/degree-programs/south-southeast-asian-studies/) or East Asian Religion, Thought & Culture (https://guide.berkeley.edu/undergraduate/degree-programs/east-asian-religion-thought-culture/).

Please see the minor tab for details about requirements and declaration.

Students with a strong interest in an area of study outside their major often decide to complete a minor program. These programs have set requirements.

General Guidelines

1. All minors must be declared before the first day of classes in your Expected Graduation Term (EGT), and for summer graduates, minors must be declared before the first day of Summer Session A.
2. All upper-division courses must be taken for a letter grade.
3. A minimum of four upper-division courses must be completed at UC Berkeley to fulfill the minor requirements.
4. To fulfill the minor requirements, upper-division courses must have a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.0.
5. Courses that fulfill the minor requirements may be applied toward the Seven-Course Breadth requirement for Letters & Science students.
6. No more than one upper division course may be used to simultaneously fulfill requirements for a student’s major and minor programs.
7. All minor requirements must be completed before the last day of finals during the semester the student plans to graduate. If students cannot finish all courses required for the minor by then, they should see a College of Letters & Science adviser.
8. All minor requirements must be completed within the unit ceiling. (Please see the College Requirements tab for further information regarding the unit ceiling.)

Buddhist Studies Minor

Declaring

Students should review the requirements and complete the prerequisite. Upon completing the prerequisite, students may apply to declare the minor online (https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLScpndhLT_VVld-B_d59jN7hFDFj-wtptnmkRyIDBlzasPQQ/viewform?usp=sf_link). Please see the department’s Minor website (https://buddhiststudies.berkeley.edu/buddhist-studies/undergraduate-studies-cbs/) for advice and the latest information related to the minor.

Requirements

Language Prerequisite

All students must complete two courses in a relevant Asian language. Available options include Sanskrit, Chinese (Mandarin or Classical), Tibetan, Mongolian, Japanese, Korean, Thai, Khmer, and Burmese. Proficient students may take upper-division courses in the same language or start a new language at the lower-division level. It is important to note that courses fulfilling the language requirement do not count towards the upper-division course requirement.

Students with transfer credits in a related language may also meet this prerequisite, subject to approval from the undergraduate advisor.

Requirements

The minor in Buddhist Studies requires five upper-division courses. Notably, Buddhist Studies C50 may substitute for one of these five courses. Students must take three courses within the Department of Buddhist Studies. Additionally, two electives must be chosen from relevant courses offered by the Departments of Buddhist Studies, East Asian Languages & Cultures, South & Southeast Asian Studies, or History of Art.

BUDDSTD C113 Buddhist Thought in India 4 Units
Terms offered: Spring 2024, Spring 2022, Spring 2021
This course is an advanced introduction to the major teachings of Indian Buddhism and their philosophical elaborations. We will cover the core tenets attributed to the Buddha, and the later doctrinal and scholastic developments that turned Buddhism into one of the principal philosophical traditions of India. For this we will read select primary sources—in principle, extracts of the scriptures and later treatises—and academic articles and book chapters. Rather than offering a broad introductory survey of Buddhist traditions across space and time, this class is geared towards students who are already familiar with the basics of Buddhism and want to deepen their understanding of the principal teachings of Buddhism originating in India.

BUDDSTD C115 Buddhism and its Culture in Japan 4 Units
This course provides a critical survey of prominent and other noteworthy expressions of Buddhist thought and culture in Japanese history. The Japanese experience of Buddhist teachings, practices and institutions, as well as aesthetic expressions in painting, sculpture, architecture, garden design, literature, and theatre will be examined against the backdrop of the transmission of all these forms of Buddhist culture from India to China to Korea to Japan. Special attention will also be given to the fusion of Buddhist and “native” Japanese sensibilities in theater (Noh, Kabuki, and Bunraku) and popular art such as ukiyo-e prints and manga.

BUDDSTD C118 Buddhism in Modern China 4 Units
Terms offered: Spring 2023, Spring 2020
Modern Chinese Buddhism emerged from a variety of reactions to the challenges posed by modernity. The course aims at introducing students to the ways in which Buddhists in China have engaged and continue to engage with a modern society and a globalized world. The course will follow the trends of Chinese Buddhism from the early twentieth century down to the most recent developments in the present. In exploring modern constructions of Buddhism in China, we will distinguish between modernism and modernity, and investigate how Chinese Buddhists introduced reforms and innovations, while also attempting to maintain continuity with traditional ideals and modes of practice.

BUDDSTD C120 Buddhism on the Silk Road 4 Units
Terms offered: Spring 2024, Spring 2023, Spring 2022
This course will discuss the social, economic, and cultural aspects of Buddhism as it moved along the ancient Eurasian trading network referred to as the “Silk Road”. Instead of relying solely on textual sources, the course will focus on material culture as it offers evidence concerning the spread of Buddhism. Through an examination of the Buddhist archaeological remains of the Silk Road, the course will address specific topics, such as the symbiotic relationship between Buddhism and commerce; doctrinal divergence; ideological shifts in the iconography of the Buddha; patronage (royal, religious and lay); Buddhism and political power; and art and conversion. All readings will be in English.

Terms offered: Spring 2023, Fall 2020, Fall 2018
Introductory reading class focusing on premodern texts written in Kanbun, the Japanese way of reading and writing Classical Chinese. The first half focuses on the orthography and syntax of Kanbun, primarily using examples from military texts from the medieval period. The second half focuses on writings considered artistic, religious (Buddhist), literary, historical, biographical, or ritualistic in nature, including snapshots of doctrinal statements by influential thinkers in the Buddhist tradition. In that Kanbun is Chinese in format but was nearly always read in Classical Japanese word order, this fulfills the Japanese-major requirement of a second semester of Classical Japanese.

BUDDSTD C152 Buddhist Astral Science 4 Units
Terms offered: Spring 2024, Spring 2023, Spring 2022
This course studies the purview of astral science under Buddhist dominion. Here it is at once promoted for promulgating Buddhist world order and repudiated for begetting the suffering-inducing physical universe, a warped vessel of ceaselessly turning stars that the Buddhist dharma must transcend. The course begins with the part astral science plays in genesis, the creation of Buddhist world order. It then covers the science’s central aspects, celestial systems, spatial orientation, time reckoning, the making of a calendar, and publication of an almanac. Thereafter, it treats the science’s outgrowth into interrelated forms of Buddhist propaganda manifest as divination, magic, medicine, ritual, scripture, and iconography.

BUDDSTD C158 Introduction to Buddhist Philosophy 4 Units
Terms offered: Fall 2023
This is an introduction to Buddhist philosophy, extending from its origins (as preserved in the early sūtra literature), down through its evolution into multiple competing philosophical traditions (Abhidharma, Madhyamaka, Yogācāra, Pramāṇa, and so on). We will explore Buddhist approaches to issues in epistemology, metaphysics, philosophy of mind, language, and ethics. One theme running through the course will be radical skepticism; we will explore how Buddhist philosophers questioned not only the existence of an enduring or essential self but also the existence of an external (mind-independent) world, and how their analyses impacted their understandings of meaning in language, their accounts of the nature and function of consciousness.
